Who is she?

Is Angelica here...?

and green eyes.

Red hair,

...Oh!

He...

Hello, sir.

Of course.

Just David is fine.
Can I call you Chise?

It's nice to meet you, Mr. Varley.

I-I'm Hatori Chise.

Come in, come in. The name's David Varley. I'm Angie's husband.

Angie's told me all about you.

魔法使いの嫁

The Wizard's Bride

It's fine.

Angie's lost in her work again and who knows when she'll come up for air. Do you mind waiting a little?

Wow, so she was married...

So since you haven't got your tail friend with you, I'm assuming you came for pleasure, not business.

THX

Nobody's fault. She wouldn't have noticed even if you'd called, anyway.

It's my fault for not calling before I came over...

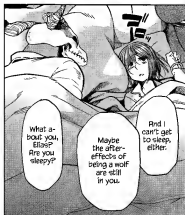

I'm fortunate to have a steady job and a loving family, but there's nothing really special about me.

Me? Nope, I'm about as normal as they come.

Mr. Var-David, are you a magus too?

魔法使いの嫁

The Wizard's Bride

Ah, then there's your example.

I do know someone who uses songs instead of spells to do magic...

But maybe that's your talent,
Chise.

Most of the time,
spells don't work without intent
to drive them...

Talent?

Spells are signals we send to our neighbors
asking for help.
You could call them recipes
for magic... or maybe sheet
music.

A lullaby is just a song, but the purpose is to help someone sleep. If imbued with magic, well...

It would work pretty well, I'd think.

I don't know whether I was like that from birth, or if it's something that I picked up for some reason or other.

It just so happens that my specialty
lies in working with materials.

That goes for magi and wizards just as much as it does for normal people.

Everyone has something they're better at than
other people,
whether those things are great or small.

Wait, is this why I'm so bad at making sleeping powders?

I should make them stronger.

Thanks

And some people have a talent for doing what they need to do without disrupting the people around them.

Like this big guy here.

Some people pursue their talents, while others spend their whole lives without giving them a second thought.

Why is that?

Seems like this are most easily solved by the people who cast them, you see.

Anyway, if that's really the case then I'm going to have trouble helping you out.

If you put a key into a lock it doesn't match, the key will just break.

It's the law of lock and key

Angelica?

Thank you!

O-Oh!
Right!

There's a lot of ways to cook up an elixir. I'll do a little research on which would be best for you.

It might be better to try and mix something up instead of trying to use pure magic...

Looking forward to it, kiddo.

I'll try and return the favor next Christmas.

Thank you for the bracelet, by the way.

Mhmm.

You know about that too,?

The hospital can't help you,
you know.

Take it easy and don't over-
do it.

Angie talks about you like you're her second daughter.

.....

You can't just go cutting your own life short
like that.

I hear you'll live just as long as the rest of my family if you don't hurt
yourself.

It pains
her to wonder how long these happy days will last until we part ways.

In a way,
I'm happy.
I don't have to worry about being alone when I die.

But all someone like her can do is see me off.

The same is true for normal people too, but at least then she'd follow
after me sooner or later.

And when I think of that...
I wonder how lonely they must be.

They'll stay
the same
through the years, watching the rest of us leave
them behind.

They'll
never know
when it will all end.

But for Angle...
And for our Althas...

Both of us, you and I, we shouldn't take risks. We shouldn't put ourselves in danger.

But not the same. With a little luck and a lot of care, you'll be able to walk their path together with them.

Let's enjoy these lives of ours for as long as we can.

...You're
right.

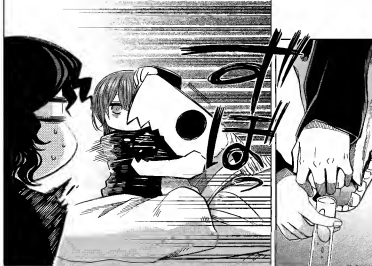

...It's
done!

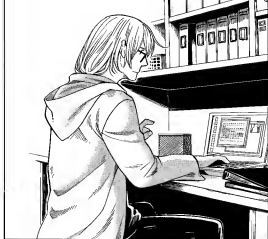

魔法使いの嫁

The Witch's Bride

Oh, come on. You know how it is. The security measures are meant to keep people from getting in, you know.

But it's not like she has a birth certificate over here anyway, so I just put her into a district I thought would fit.

Thanks.

She's listed as deceased over in Japan.

Children who have the talent and will to learn are to be cherished.

Slay Vegas are so rare. If we manage to get this one to the academy, there's no telling what kind of research we could-

Thanks for tipping me off, by the way.

The bird we sent the first time around never came back. Same goes for all the others, so I decided to go forward with this on my own.

If we can't forge bonds of peace with the young while we can, we're doomed to another great war.

So many wizards and magi have died, their wisdom and knowledge being lost with them. We've moved backwards, not forwards.

That's what the academy was built to do.

We should be focusing on sharing our knowledge and building up experience. On helping each other.

Beep

He's so straight-laced, it's kind of worrying.

...You're
right.

REN-
FRED!

GOT
MENT?!

Blame, hm? I heard you got it protecting your apprentice. Dunno if anyone'd blame you for that.

I have only myself to blame, so I take that annoyance gladly.

so you might have more respect in the eyes of our peers... But let's be honest here. It's just annoying, isn't it?

I know we see scars and mutations as badges of pride.

...Though actually, it bothers me how I haven't heard anything about him for so long.

If I had, I'd have told you.

Cartaphilus, was it? Have you had any contact with him since then?

A wizard's hair holds some of their magic, and it's slow to grow at that.

Though, he got some of your hair too, didn't he? That's bad.

...

I'm jealous of your naivety if you can look at my missing arm and feel that.

Wait, Mikhail, you really met the Cartaphilus? I'm so jealous!

Consider how immortality is one of our greatest areas of research and...!

He's a wizard who becomes active for decades at a time, then disappears for just as long. The passage of time means nothing to him!

But if the rumors are true, he's been around since before the birth of Christ!

Immortality would mean an end to our setbacks, but it would also spell the end of our advances.

...Don't you just kind of, you know, wish you knew how he does it?

魔法使いの嫁

The Wizard's Bride

The pathetic dreams of those who came before us are only impeding our own research.

You can't just ignore all the things we've learned in pursuit of those dreams, Mikhail.

Normal people may be fine using the fruits of science without understanding, but wizards must know all the minutia of it, even if it costs us our lives.

Often we discover magic in accordance with our research but the body can't bear the magic's power, or something just plain goes wrong.

We all know how restricted human bodies are!

There's tons of wizards who would kill for the secret to immortality.

You're talented, no doubt about that. But keep that stubbornness and you'll find yourself making more enemies than friends.

Life is too short to discover everything we want to know.

How many of our best and brightest have fallen in the pursuit of knowledge?

Ack,
Tory, you should stop there...

YOU'VE GOT A FRIEND IN ME, BUDDY!

UGH, YOU KNOW THAT'S NOT WHAT I MEANT. WHAT-EVER, LET'S DOWN OUR SORROWS!

...As long as I have
some friends,
that's fine
with me.

As it again with that

sion...
